WE NOMINATE

James Arthur Floyd, one of the most articulate of all Princetonians and the first black to hold an elective municipal office in the history of the Princeton Community, who has been largely responsible for the impact of the most exciting educational venture of the summer of 1969. It was the 47-year old Floyd's suggestion that prompted a dozen volunteer faculty members of Princeton University's School of Engineering and Applied Science to offer 18 black Borough and Township boys a six-week initiation into the "mysteries" of aircraft, electricity, structural design and computers—a world reserved in yesteryear for incoming "freshman engineers." (Story and picture in "Topics of the Town," page 30.)

The idea for the undertaking, in which a Community Planning Committee has helped with the general design of the program and has been instrumental in raising funds from local donors, selecting the participants, assisting University personnel during the summer and now with evaluation, was generated in a talk Floyd gave at the University last Fall. David P. Billington, Professor of Civil Engineering, and several of his associates were immediately interested, with the result that the community and concerned members of the University are now anxious to explore "new avenues of town-gown educational cooperation."

A resident of Princeton for the past quarter-century, and keenly aware of the human problems the Princetons of the nation must confront and solve in the years ahead, the Trenton-born Floyd is not primarily concerned with what have been termed "the mouthings and militant expressions" of the present. Last fall, in entering the political arena for the first time and earning his job on the Township Committee by outdistancing the field, he translated into fact his conviction that the individual must become "involved" before he can qualify for a post in which "he can say and do — and, also, listen to others."

Floyd, currently holding a senior management position with the Stokes Molded Products Division of Electric Storage Battery, Inc., is a product of the Trenton Public Schools and a cum laude graduate of West Virginia State College. At the latter, where he "majored" in Art and "minored" in English and Political Science, he nurtured an enduring interest in education and art to the degree that he is a State-Certified teacher in art and fondly remembers the Saturday mornings he worked in painting classes "in all media" with students attending the Lawrence Township Junior High School.

Floyd's past affiliations — Vice President, Princeton Community Housing; Member, Princeton Township Citizens Advisory Committee; Board Member, Princeton Association of Human Rights; Secretary, Troop Committee of Scout Troop 48 — are suggestive of the range of his interests. It is noteworthy that Floyd, the father of a newly graduated Princeton University senior about to enter upon advanced studies at the University of Rochester and a senior-to-be at Rutgers, is deeply concerned with the ever-rising higher costs of higher education.

For seeking to provide a vital educational experience for young men aged 11 to 15; for his quiet, but singularly effective, leadership in any number of areas; for insisting that people, black and white alike, are infinitely more interested in strengthening, and building up, than they are in "tearing down"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

HOUSING IN TOWNSHIP

PCH Buys Land. Housing for 200 of the Township's middle and lower income families may be under construction by next summer.

Princeton Community Housing, Inc., the non-profit corporation formed to build mid-income housing under state provisions, this week signed for the purchase of 23 acres of land in the heartland of the Township.

The site is a land-locked parcel in the Research Zone between Terhune Road and Mt. Lucas Road, roughly behind Opinion Research and All Saints Chapel. Access will be from Terhune on a right of way already owned by the Township, with a possible second road going in from North Harrison, depending on development of that area.

Owner of the property is William Hahn of Morrisville, Pa. The purchase price is $122,000.

This is the second of Princeton Community Housing's mid-income housing projects. The first has been proposed for the Borough on the parking lot next to the public library.

The Borough project is being designed for single persons or couples with a minimum of space for children. The Township 200 apartments will be for families, even big families, with children.

According to Mrs. Benson Carlin of PCH, about 25% of the units may be low income apartments, developed in cooperation with the Housing Authority.

"Site Is Good." "We've talked with both Township Committee and the Planning Board," stated Leonard di Donato, site chairman of PCH for the Township, "and they've assured us that this site is the one they like best. And it was everybody's first choice, of the 16 sites we considered."

Because the land isn't zoned for multiple apartments, some changes will have to be made. The Township's new zoning ordinance is now under construction, and PCH hopes the new ordinance will designate the site for publicly-supported housing. If it doesn't PCH will have to apply to the Township Zoning Board for a variance.

PCH directors haven't decided yet whether to propose the payment of 15% of rental income in lieu of taxes, or whether to pay taxes in a standard way.

More Speed, Please. Last Wednesday, Mrs. Carlin, Mr. di Donato and Theodore Vial, president of PCH, met with the Commissioner of the Department of Community Affairs, Paul Ylvisaker, to ask for a speedier handling of Princeton's applications. Processing for the Borough unit required much time. Mr. Ylvisaker not only assured PCH that things would move faster, he assigned a special project director to PCH at the request of the corporation's directors.

PCH has applied to the state for $31,200 in seed money, to be used for architect's and attorneys' fees, surveys and to repay the option money advanced by sponsoring organizations of PCH. Mr. Ylvisaker promised action on this application by September 1, Mr. di Donato stated. (Township seed money will come all at once, not in two installments, as in the Borough.) Architect Charles Agle will then begin preliminary plans.

The Department of Community Affairs will float a bond issue to provide the mortage money PCH needs. PCH will apply to the Federal government, Mr. di Donato said, for money to help pay the interest on the mortgage.

And Mrs. Carlin hopes for additional savings. The state likes large, family size apartments and will give certain rebates for a high proportion of three bedroom units. If Borough and Township projects can be lumped together as a single package, a little careful arithmetic might mean more state aid. In any case, Mrs. Carlin adds, the two projects will operate under a single management.

In the Borough. The Township's project is classically simple. The Borough's has been classically difficult, partly because it was one of the first of its kind, partly because of the complex questions involved in building on Borough-owned land.

For example, under state law, PCH can build only those parking spaces that are required by Borough zoning law for the use of PCH tenants about 125. The Borough must pay for the rest.

The Borough's project has been marking time, awaiting resolution of the contract between the architect and the state. Mutually acceptable contract arrangements were made only on Monday of this week, Mr. di Donato said. The disagreements concerned architects' fees, and also the need for professionnl assistance by the architect all through the construction process.

Now that the agreement has been reached, the second half of the Borough's seed money should be forthcoming soon. Robert Geddes, architect for the Borough project, is now well into planning the actual layouts of apartments, Mr. di Donato reported.

Before PCH applies for mortgage money for the Borough project, the approval of Borough Council is required. PCH officials have expressed uneasiness over the tight schedule; municipal elections are only two months away, and a lame-duck Council might not want to act, preferring to let a new Council and a new mayor pass judgment. That would mean a delay to January 1.

Meanwhile, Mr. di Donato says, of PCH's Township land acquisition,

"We've got a good buy, well within the state's budget limitations."

REFERENDUM PLANNED

For School Land. Princeton voters will be asked to decide, in a referendum to be held September 23, whether the Princeton Regional School Board should acquire 24.8

The Not-So-Good Old Days

Back in the so-called "good old days," things were different. If you had either diabetes or pernicious anemia, your days were numbered. Since there was very little protection against the ravages of epidemic diseases, the average life expectancy was about fifty years.

Today your life expectancy is about sixty-five years, and it is increasing approximately six months each year because of medical progress. We are proud of our contribution to present-day medical care.

acres of land on Snowden Lane for $226,000

The school board passed the necessary resolutions unanimously Tuesday night — although only five of the nine members were present. Winthrop Pike said he'd prefer to abstain (he is a friend of one of the owners), but voted "yes."

If Princeton's voters also say "yes," the 24.8 acres would be left fallow for a future elementary school, to be built five or ten years from now. No immediate construction is planned. It will be the first bond issue for the Regional School Board.

The largest part of the parcel is 17.0 acres belonging to the estate of Gordon Hall. The board will buy this land for $166,650, plus $6,388.25 for a three and one-half month option expiring two days after the referendum.

If the referendum passes, the option money will be applied to the purchase price. If it's rejected, the owners will keep the sum. The owners of this land, Miss Mollie Hall and her sister, Mrs. T. B. Fisher, have already signed the agreement.

Owners of the other parcel, Mr and Mrs. Holmes Hutson, have not yet signed. This parcel, consisting of about seven acres, will be acquired for $45,845 with an option price of $1,761.61.

The Hutsons are concerned about setback because they live on the remaining piece of land and they would like a setback of 250 feet, but the board is reluctant to sacrifice so much space. The existence of the large old home on the adjoining Hall property makes a setback line even more of a problem.

The board passed the Hutson agreement, specifying a 150 foot setback as a compromise. The two parties will presumably confer on the question. If no agreement can be reached, the board has the power to condemn.

"Yes." Cost to the taxpayers, board attorney Thomas Cook estimated, would be about $12,000 a year: $5,000 for 5% interest on a 30 year bond plus $7,000 a year amortization.

"This is very cheap insurance, and I approve," commented Heinz Heinemann from the audience. "I wish past school boards had planned as well for the future."

"It is an excellent move," said Mrs. Jess Epstein. "It is important not to let property slip away while school population studies are being made." Mrs. Epstein, a member of the former Township Board of Education, is now a member of the State Board of Education.

"No." "My clients are entering into this agreement for purposes of the referendum, but they oppose the sale of their land for this use," stated A. C. Reeves Hicks, attorney for all the owners. "My clients will argue against the referendum at the proper time."

Mr. Hicks pointed out that the project "got off on the wrong foot" because the board investigated the property and decided to buy it without conferring with any of the owners.

Why? William Marvel, vice-president of the board who presided in the absence of president John Marks, told the audience the board decided on this parcel because:

- It is close to the area sketched out for school use on the Township's Master Plan map. The site was formally placed on the map by the Planning Board last month.
- It's the right size: slightly larger than the state minimum.
- It is convenient to transportation, with Snowden Lane right there, and the future Loop Road almost next door.
- It has suitable terrain for a school site, and access to public utilities.
- It is for sale.

The board rejected the Van Dyke Wight Open Space land next to this property, because heavy woods would have to be bulldozed, the land had been acquired with both Federal and State funds, which would make purchase by the school board complicated, although not impossible, matter, and — chiefly — the board doesn't want to interfere with the projects of another public body, in this case, the Open Space Commission.

The Bertrand Gulick property had also been suggested. Mr. Marvel said it was undesirable as a school site because it's on the very edge of town (Princeton-Kingston Road near River Road) and besides, it's not for sale.

Money Saved. "Acquisition of this land will save taxpayers money in the long run," Mr. Marvel said, adding that the land could be sold at a profit if not needed. Mr. Cook said prices in the area had gone from $5,000 to $6,500 an acre in the three years since Open Space picked up the Van Dyke Wight property.

Mr. Marvel told the audience that K-5 classes are just about at capacity, with no solution possible except a new school or possible expansion of Johnson Park on the other side of town. The Snowden Lane parcel is near the site announced this week by Princeton Community Housing where 200 apartments for middle-income families will be built.

Other Business. The board established the position of Dean of the Faculty at Princeton High School and named Frank Soda as the first Dean. He is currently chairman of the Language Department.

Mr. Soda's duties will lie in curriculum development, evaluation and articulation, including the establishment of faculty-student groups to study current practices in the school. He will receive a salary comparable to that of a vice principal.

Carmen Precioso was named acting chairman of the Language Arts succeeding Mr. Soda.

Mrs. Sibyl Parnes was named administrative assistant to the high school principal for one year. She will take over many duties that have been in the portfolio of Miss Florence Burke, who was appointed acting principal in June.

In similar assignments Richard Wood was named acting chairman of the industrial arts department and Gilbert Mortinson, acting chairman of the high school math department.

These are "acting" designations because re-organizing the high school's administrative staff is still in process.

PHS Sports to Continue

"My understanding is that, by and large, fall sports will proceed as usual," said Superintendent Philip E. McPherson after Tuesday night's Board of Education meeting. This can be interpreted as "no strike" by the coaches at Princeton High.

Mr. McPherson recommended at Tuesday's meeting that Joseph Jingoli be named Director of Athletics at Princeton High, to be in charge of all athletics for both boys and girls. The board agreed.

The board also approved appointments of all kindergarten-through 12th-grade coaches and supervisors and these teachers will be notified of their appointment by mail this week, Dr. McPherson said. Coaches did not submit names for assignment until Tuesday morning, the superintendent reported.

Schools Now Have Single Telephone Number

One telephone number will cover all Princeton's public schools plus the Stony Brook Administration building starting next Monday.

The number is 924-5600. Previously, it has served Princeton High School only. Now, it will cover the field, and if you want Johnson Park or Littlebrook, Superintendent McPherson or John Witherspoon himself, you simply dial 924-5600.

Transportation, on the other hand, will continue to have its own number: 924-9070. Bus problems — should there be any, heaven forbid — will be solved at that number.

The new system means a brand new 608-A PBX Switchboard for Mrs. Alice Satterfield to operate at Princeton High. The old switchboard, 40 years old and beginning to show its age, was badly damaged in the PHS fire of 1968. Wood on the sides still looks like charcoal.

Replacing the 40-year-old switchboard "as is," would have cost about $1,200 according to William Evans, secretary of the Regional School System. The current up-dating will be about $3,000, thoughtfully included in the 1969 budget.

The new central system will be a particular relief for the Stony Brook staff. Several hundred calls a day pour into the Stony Brook offices and one bookkeeper.

NEW SWITCHBOARD: Mrs. Alice Satterfield, switchboard gal for the Princeton Regional Schools, takes a quick dry run on the school system's new centralized telephone set-up.

Mrs. Kathleen James, once took a record 85 calls in one day.

"You can imagine how much time this took from her regular job," Mr. Evans points out. "Here at Stony Brook, we pay $60,000 a year in clerical salaries, and we've estimated that 5% of our time has to be spent answering incoming calls. You can see what a central system will mean to us."

At the high school, there will be an intercom system with telephones in department offices — none in classrooms.

For your handy reference, the school numbers are:

General calls to any school: 924-5600

Transportation calls only: 924-9070

BOROUGH SAYS "NO"

To Consolidation Study. The Borough will not go ahead with a full-scale consolidation study.

After a conference last week with two state officials, Council and Mayor Henry S. Patterson decided that in Mayor Patterson's words, "it is not feasible to go further at this time." No formal vote was taken, the mayor said, but the decision not to proceed was a consensus.

There is no evidence to show that a full-scale report would reveal anything new in the tax relationship between Borough and Township, the mayor said. If the Borough did authorize the study, and then present the question to the voters, it would probably be rejected. Under law, rejection would mean that it could not be brought before the voters for another five years.

School taxes are the stumbling block. Under regionalization, the biggest chunk of school cost is shared on a per-pupil basis.

Under full municipal consolidation, however, school costs must be shared on a rateables basis. This would tip the balance against the Borough and cost Borough taxpayers more money.

No Law Possible. For a time, proponents of consolidation thought that special state legislation could redress this imbalance; however, state financial and legal experts say that an actual change in the state constitution would be required—not just a new law, and the state would unquestionably resist.

State officials who conferred with mayor and councilmen were Richard Keevey, program development specialist for the Division of Local Finance of the Department of Community Affairs, and Herbert Rosen, deputy director of the Office of Community Services of the Department of Community Affairs.

Mr. Rosen and Mr. Keevey were unable to pin point actual dollar savings from consolidation, Mayor Patterson said. They told Borough officials that a new study probably couldn't be any better than the 1965 Dilley Report on consolidation, which they commended as "one of the finest ever written."

A full-scale study by an outside consultant could cost $12,000-$15,000, Mr. Rosen and Mr. Keevey estimated. Both Borough and Township had budgeted $750 for a study by state officials that was supposed to cost $1500.

However, Mr. Keevey said this week that, although the state could lend some staff assistance, the department wouldn't have any staff members available for some time because of other studies now on the docket.

That Tax Dollar. Consolidation now "is not in the best interests of the Borough taxpayers," said Councilman Charles Cornforth, analyzing consolidation dollars Tuesday at Mayor Patterson's press conference.

If Borough and Township were consolidated, Mr. Cornforth said, the owner of a $30,000 Borough house would pay about $95 more a year in taxes. He now pays about $800. Each year's Borough tax rate would be about 65-70 points higher. The local purposes tax, currently $649,000, would be about $300,000 a year higher, Mr. Cornforth said.

Any savings that would result from consolidation are not reflected in these figures, he pointed out, nor do the figures take into account present Township charges for sewers and garbage collection, which would partly offset any savings.

"To break even on consolidation," Mr. Cornforth said, "$800,000 in savings would be required each year." He compared this figure to the $739,000 now paid in municipal salaries in the Borough.

Mr. Cornforth presented a graph showing the equalized tax rate per $100 of true value in Borough and Township. The two lines are nearly parallel, but are beginning to meet. At the magic year when they cross, the rate would be the same in both municipalities, but Mr. Cornforth estimates that they are converging at the rate of one cent per year.

"The fiscal disparity between Borough and Township isn't so bad as it was before at the time of the Dilley report," observed Mr. Keevey.

"It's a subjective thing," commented Mr. Cornforth, "you must measure the dollars against the benefits."

Mayor Patterson said he was disappointed but not surprised that there was little chance of changing the state law, adding:

"I still feel consolidation is in the best interests of Princeton and will come about eventually. I would hope it could be examined again every two or three years."

Township Reaction. In the Township, Mayor John D. Wallace said he was "terribly disappointed" in the Borough's decision not to proceed with deeper study of the question.

"I understand what they see their problem to be," he conceded, "but consolidation is clearly a benefit for the community, and the Township plans to move forward in the area of cooperation with the Borough."

"Hardly anything that faces our community can't be solved better if we act as a joint community," Mayor Wallace stated.

He listed youth, drugs, traffic, planning, housing, University relations and recreation as prime areas for working together.

On August 18 or September 15, Township Committee will introduce the ordinance establishing a Joint Planning Board for the two communities. The Borough will introduce its ordinance at about the same time.

About planning, Mayor Wallace sees a joint board of health as a possible next step. In the area of general cooperation, he said that Borough, State, County, University and Township representatives will meet this month to discuss the drug problem.

"Consolidation is not dead by any means," Mayor Wallace said. "I want to continue to interest people in it, and to keep pointing out that we're better off together."

Mayor Wallace is running for re-election to Township Committee on the Republican ticket. His opponent, Richard Bergman, also said he was "very disappointed" in the Borough's decision.

Worse Than Bugs!

I don't mind mildew
On my rugs,
But in my garden,
. . . Slugs!
. Ughs!

The heritage of a wet summer is dampness, and dampness seems here to stay. The same pattern of the last two weeks is about to take over.

Temperatures are set to move upward again, followed by the humidity. Friday, for example, is expected to be a typical summer Turkish Bath.

Weekend showers logically should be next on the schedule. If a little luck prevails, they may come at night — as they did last Saturday and Sunday.

eight. A proposed ruling that would make Chestnut Street one way south, from Hamilton to Nassau, was not presented.

A public hearing is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, September 9 to consider a bonding ordinance providing $95,000 to buy a new fire truck. The first reading passed at Tuesday's meeting, with $4,454 approved as a down payment on the truck due for delivery in two years.

Mayor Patterson and Administrator Robert Mooney said that the ordinance is essentially a rainy day contingency. Over 60 percent of cost will be born by the Township. Institutions will be approached for support, with the Borough acting as banker.

Quarry Traffic Protested. Arthur Riccio of 160 Spruce Street presented a petition signed by "100 percent" of his street living between Linden Avenue and the old quarry. Residents complained of heavy truck traffic to and from the quarry ("on some days as many as 60 trucks") and the danger to the children. Dust, dirt and noise were also listed.

Mr. Riccio stated that contractors store materials and equipment at the quarry, causing much truck traffic. When the Borough is cleaning up from a snow storm, the trucks

Mayor and Council also approved an ordinance amending the building code to allow Nassau Street merchants to lower their awnings from a seven-foot height instead of STATE 4-H DAIRY JUDGING CHAMPIONS: Mercer County's 4-H dairy judging team checks its theory against a real life cow, after finishing first to a state-wide contest. From left are Mary Sowerby, 16, The Great Road, Blawenberg; Carol Smith, 18, and her brother, Richard, 15, of Crosswicks Road, Allentown, and Beverly Burd, 15, of Burd Road, Pennington. come and go day and night for three or four days. The quarry is also being used as a street cleaning dump.

Mayor and Council took the matter under advisement; hopefully we can come up with some kind of an answer.

In other matters, Council referred to the traffic safety committee a request from Airbrook Service, Inc., an airport limousine company, for permission to pick up and discharge passengers in the Borough. The firm is currently using the Princeton Inn and would like to add a stop at the Nassau Inn. It has recently received permission from the Public Utilities Commission to leave passengers at Newark Airport.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment informed Council by letter of its approval of the plans of Bellows store to tear down the Tree House boutique at the rear on Moore Street and build a one story annex, covering the lot from the side walk line back to the parking lot. Attorney A. C. Reeves Hicks told Council that Bellows considered its present two-building situation inefficient. The boutique would be housed in the main store. After discussion, Council approved.

In a miscellaney of matters brought forth, the installation of underground telephone wires on Walnut Lane is expected to be completed by the time school open; parking meter receipts are running $28,000 ahead of last year; police have issued 1,972 summonses in July — 1,828 for parking — and there have been three cases of dog bite.

BOROUGH TO APPEAL

In Sheehan Case, Borough Council will appeal the Superior Court decision requiring the Borough to give back Timothy Sheehan's building permit for the three story Sheehan office building at Nassau and Markham.

Mr. Sheehan originally obtained a building permit under the Borough's old zoning ordinance. But under a clause in the new and current zoning law, passed last November 20, all building permits were subject to cancellation unless construction was substantially under way by the publication date of the new ordinance.

The builder went ahead anyway and began excavating for his new building. In June, Judge Frank Kingfield of Superior Court said that because Mr. Sheehan had gone ahead with his excavation work under the permit, he was entitled to have it back.

In explaining the Borough's decision to appeal, Councilman Alan Carrick, who is also on the Planning Board, said the Planning Board had carefully studied the Markham-Nassau area and decided it was more suitable for neighborhood business use, than for B 2 business use. In reaching its decision, the board considered growing traffic along North Harrison, and agreed it would be in the best interests of the Borough to preserve the area's light business and residential character, Mr. Carrick said.

"Also," he explained, "to have one builder get a monopoly on the higher floor-area ratio might be considered unfair to builders like Princeton Plaza who had gracefully accepted the new zoning. Princeton Plaza had planned an office complex at 360 Nassau, roughly across Nassau from Mr. Sheehan.

Mr. Carrick also suggested that Mr. Sheehan had been racing with the Borough toward the deadline of his building permit's cancellation.

"His outlays of money for work on the site seem to have been made with a race in mind," Mr. Carrick said, "and this raised the question of good faith."

OFFICE MACHINES TAKEN

From Opinion Research Corp. Township Police are looking for the thief or thieves who entered Opinion Research Corporation early Sunday morning and stole enough office machines to supply a good sized business.

Taken were 15 electric IBM typewriters, five adding machines, three calculators and one stencord machine, with a total value of $10,800. Several vending machines were forced open and an undetermined amount of cash taken.

The theft was discovered by an ORC employee, who came to work early Sunday morning. Police reported that an attempt was made to pry one window open, but entry to the building must have been gained another way. Pfl. Orlindo Carnevale is investigating.

Home Entered. Meanwhile in another part of the Township also early Sunday morning between 12:30 and 3:30 a.m., several items were taken from the home of L. H. Laughlin, 142 Winant Road. Christopher Laughlin, 18, reported he left the house shortly before 12:30 and when he returned he noticed a pair of binoculars missing from a table.

Checking further he discovered several rifles, a shotgun, Sony television set and a camera also gone. An older brother asleep upstairs reported hearing nothing. Value of the articles was placed at $800-$900. Ptl. Howard Sweeney investigated.

Earlier Sunday afternoon between 4 and 6 p.m. Fred Smith of Trenton reported his wristwatch stolen from his locker at the Community Park swimming pools. He valued the watch at $125.

FIVE ARE CHARGED

With Sale of Drugs. Five young men from Princeton are facing trial on charges of possession and sale of heroin and other drugs as a result of three months effort and cooperation by Borough, Township and State Police, and the Mercer County Prosecutor's office.

Arrested at their homes at 4 a.m. Friday morning were Franklin Lee Woolford, 21, of 120 Witherspoon Street; William E. Diringer, 24, of 9 Pine Street and Richard Lockhart, 22, of 291 Witherspoon Street. A fourth, George L. McGowan III, 23, of 246 John Street, gave himself up at Borough Police headquarters Monday afternoon in the company of an aunt. He was charged with the sale of heroin.

The last, Peter Solotorovsky, 22, of Heather Lane, was already in jail awaiting trial on a previous narcotics charge. He was charged with the sale and use of methedrene previous to his arrest on June 13.

Township Municipal Court Judge Burtno Peskin set bail on Woolford and Diringer at $7,500 each. Lockhart's bail was $2,500 and Solotorovsky's $5,000. Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. set bail at $2,500 for McGowan.

"We hope this will dry up the heroin sources around town for a reasonable time," commented Chief Peter J. McCrohan. "We have been getting numerous complaints from all over about the amount of drug traffic in Princeton."

The arrests came as a payoff in a plan worked out at a meeting three months ago, attended by Capt. George R. Kell, Commander of the State Police Narcotics Bureau; Mercer County Prosecutor Vincent Panaro, Borough Police Chief McCrohan and Township Chief James Campbell. A member of the state police's narcotics bureau worked as an undercover agent, purchasing drugs from several people.

Participating from the Borough were Lt. Michael Carnevale and Det. Thomas Procacino, and Det. Norman Servis. Det. Samuel Bianco and Det. Anthony Pinelli of the Township.

ELM, ROSEDALE AGAIN

Accident Involves Three Cars. The steady hum of construction sounds emanating from the corners of Rosedale and Elm roads is reassuring evidence that the dangerous intersection will soon be controlled by a traffic light. Unfortunately, the noise is punctuated every so often with the sound of metal colliding with metal, a reminder that motorists are still having problems there.

The second accident there in less than a month and the eighth this year occurred Sunday at 4:58 p.m. when Charles F. Moorefield of Freehold reportedly missed the stop sign on Rosedale and struck a car driven by Edmund R. Beckwith, 452 Stockton Street, coming up Elm. Mr. Beckwith's car was pushed sideways into another, driven by Stephen H. Burlingham, 194 Carter Road, who was waiting to turn left from Elm onto Rosedale.

Mr. Moorefield's wife was treated at Princeton Hospital for contusions of the forehead, and contusions and abrasions of both knees. Mr. Burlingham was treated at Princeton Hospital and released, and Mr. Beckwith refused medical attention.

All three cars were badly dented and were towed from the scene. Mr. Moorefield was ticketed for failing to observe a stop sign.

PURSE-SNATCHER AT WORK

A New Tactic Used. A thief added a new twist to purse-snatching Saturday night, and worked it successfully.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coleman, 44 Vandeventer Avenue, were sitting on their front porch, when a young man approached and asked if they had a room for rent. When told no, he asked for a drink of water. Mr. Coleman went inside to get it, and the thief immediately snatched Mrs. Coleman's purse and fled north up Vandeventer. Mrs. Coleman lost $15 in cash.

OPPONENTS AGREE

On Snow Removal. In Princeton Township, snow removal won't snowball into a major election issue.

Republicans and Democrats both came out four-square in favor of municipal snow removal in statements issued this week.

The Democrats — Richard Bergman and Golda Gottlieb — have a twist: they suggest that sidewalk snow removal be turned over to a new, locally created non profit corporation which would hire Princeton people part-time for snow-removal work. Eventually, say the Committee candidates, such a non-profit corporation might well take on several other municipal duties, such as garbage removal perhaps.

Mr. Bergman and Mrs. Gottlieb ask for careful planning, of priorities — "whose walks get shoveled first? — and they ask Committee to find out whether the Princeton Regional School Board could share part of the cost.

"We would like to see the pilot project carefully reviewed after a year, or certainly no more than three years after inception," the candidates say.

Republicans say they are "enthusiastic supporters" of the ordiance, which was introduced last week by Republican Committeeman William L. Wilson.

John D. Wallace, running for re-election, and his running mate, Dean W. Chace, cite safety and financial relief for homeowners as their pivotal reasons for support.

Homeowners who are elderly, ill or out of town during a snow storm are penalized under the current law, they say in addition, they state "Those with limited incomes are hard put to pay the cost of shoveling and in many instances it is virtually impossible to hire snow shovelers."

The Township wants to buy a $7,500 snow removal machine. The enabling legislation involves two ordinances, one providing for purchase of the machine, the other repealing the current law that requires home owners to clear their own walks within 48 hours of a snowstorm. Public hearing is scheduled for August 18.

SAFETY CLASS PLANNED

By Shopping Center Merchants. As a public service the Princeton Shopping Center Merchants' Association will sponsor a safety program for pre schoolers and early elementary school youngsters August 21-29. The program is called "Safety Town."

In order to instruct youngsters in pedestrian safety rules, a simulated village complete with miniature dwellings, stores, church, schools and sidewalks will be erected on the Mall at the Shopping Center on North Harrison Street. The children will be given first-hand experience with traffic problems they will encounter enroute to school.

The twenty-minute classes begin Thursday, August 21 at 10:30 a.m. and will be held on the hour and half-hour daily, except Saturday and Sunday. There will be no classes held during noon and 1 p.m. Beginning Friday, classes will start at 10 a.m. with the last class beginning at 3:30. At the end of the class, each child will be given a diploma to certify his completion of the course.

The safety instruction will be given by Princeton Township Police Department Patrolmen David Cromwell, Robert Heacock, William Potts and David Wilbur.

Any child age 4 and over may participate free of charge and pre-registration is not required. However, nursery schools, day care centers and Head Start groups interested in having their children tour "Safety Town" should call 921-6234 in advance to reserve a time for their group.

Teaching Experience Vital.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was surprised to find myself agreeing with David Hapgood that the State's Board of Examiners were "acting in their role as protectors of the guild, just like the plumbers union or the American Medical Association in their rejection of Mr. Male as High School principal."

However, I want to go a little further with the analogy. The protection of the guild has its roots in the need for protecting the interest of the consuming public that cannot readily assess the competence of people who need technical skills for their work.

There is no substitute, acceptable to me, for the minimal experience now required by the State for certification of teachers and principals, no less than for physicians and surgeons, and plumbers for that matter. It is beside the point to suggest that the minimum qualifications now required are inadequate. That would seem an argument for raising and extending them rather than for abandoning them altogether.

Doggone That Dog Law!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am a native-born Princetonian, ten years old, and I have always lived at the same address. I have good, respectable habits, a naturally gay disposition, and a host of friends. In fact, I like people and have never harmed anyone.

But all of a sudden, my life has become unbearable. In fact, I think I may be going to have a nervous breakdown. For no reason at all, I am not allowed to visit my friends, go to collect my bone at the neighbor's, greet the mail man and the paper boy, chase rabbits and squirrels, pursue the opposite sex, play with children, or even follow my master's bicycle to the office. Life just isn't worth living.

I hate to think of being exiled from my family and friends after all these years, but my folks say it will be best for me to leave town. It seems that there is a pressure group of new people from the city who have been allowed to take over the place, and they are prejudiced against dogs.

If I were human, I'd say my constitutional rights were being violated — but I am only a broken-hearted Labrador retriever.

Community Housing Opposed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have sent to the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton University and Westminster Choir College.

This letter is written to you as the principal sponsoring organizations of Princeton Community Housing, Inc. It is to raise a question as to whether you realize the nature of your housing project. Do you know that it looks like a conspiracy of those who are tax-exempt against those who pay taxes?

Although clothed in pious terms, it would make a fundamental change in the economic policy of Princeton Borough — from Capitalism to Socialism. That is the inevitable effect of any scheme which may result in a subsidy by taxpayers of housing facilities, principally for the benefit of employees of tax exempt organizations or of anyone else.

The principal reason for the failure of the normal processes to provide and support additional housing facilities in the Borough in a capitalistic manner is the ganging up of building trades labor. The construction industry has priced itself out of the market.

The labor monopoly and construction industry forces (carpenters, plumbers, painters, contractors, etc.) have so inflated costs that you can't justify risking your capital in housing any more than other people can do so.

There is no lack of appreciation for your fine institutions and their importance in the community. However, the question presented is not one of allocating normal costs in common among property interests of the Borough.

It is a matter of financing additional privilege for an already overprivileged construction industry, of additional subsidy to agencies already subsidized with tax exemption, of doing both at the taxpayers' expense, and of trying to make it all look like a proper responsibility of the taxpayers, which it is not.

Instead of asking taxpayers to put up for more privilege for the already privileged, why not go to the labor monopoly, the construction industry, and the financial interests, and work out a scheme that does not seek to pass the buck to taxpayers or government? Why shouldn't those who created the problem work it out?

Help Wanted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As merely an extra pair of hands at Trinity Church on Wednesdays, I can speak with tremendous and unbelieving pride in what a few people have accomplished. In eight weeks, 11,843 gifts have been wrapped and 1,183 packages are on their way to USO China Beach to be sent out to combat troops for Christmas.

Probably not more than 200 people are involved in all of this — just think what it could be like if everyone shared in "Christmas in Vietnam." We need everything from hands right on through gifts, money, to that left-over Christmas paper and ribbon tucked away in a box somewhere.

Checks should be made out to "Christmas, Trinity Church" and gifts can be taken to any church office. But — better still — bring them yourselves to Trinity any Wednesday and watch a tire repair kit or a pack of cards turn into a gay, personal "Merry Christmas" from home.

Please care with us.

Who Owns the Poison Ivy?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

You know that strip of land along Lake Carnegie and between Harry's Brook and the dam? I mean that strip where, if it hadn't rained so much, the clouds of dust blow up as people drive along its worn length (one time, some one put a little gravel down and that helped lay the dust but the gravel's gone now).

It's the piece of land that's so littered with bottles, cans and old papers that no one picks up. Because it is unmowed, some handsome wild flowers grow — Queen Anne's lace, lovely pink mallows, loosestrife — it's really beautiful with the great elms.

Of course, there's getting to be more and more poison ivy, too, and the ragweed crop is terrific, especially round that ugly utility pole at the boat house. You know the piece of land I mean?

It's where the empty car rolled into the lake last Wednesday, and the police and first aid squad rushed down to swim out to be sure the Kennedys weren't in trouble again.

Anyway, this tract of land borders on the Princeton-Kingston Road and has a natural hedge that grows and grows — the Township Police say the hedge is a fine place for crooks to hide to spy out the houses across the street for burglary. Some of the hedge is speckled red with the delightful, long, flared, humming bird-attracting flowers of curving trumpet vines.

Then, on some of the old fence posts climb the most lucious, expansive, colossal, arm-waving and inflamingly allergy-producing clumps of poison ivy. Now, do you know the place I mean? Well, what I want to know is, who owns the poison ivy on those posts, the University or the Department of Transportation?

FREIGHT CARS DERAIL

On Reading near Belle Mead. Thirty-six cars of a 49-car freight train running on the Reading Railroad main tracks derailed Sunday near Belle Mead, causing a massive pile-up and spilling tons of coal. No one was killed, but the train's flagman, Johnston Edward of Philadelphia, received a neck injury and was treated at Somerset Hospital.

Work crews worked Sunday and all day Monday to clear the wreckage. A railroad spokesman said that damage would run "in excess of $50,000."

world are attending school at Educational Testing Service this summer to gain knowledge useful to their own countries' educational programs.

A professor from the University of Indonesia, an education officer from Hong Kong, a Jesuit priest from India, a college teacher from Honduras, as well as 11 other educators are participating in ETS' annual program in test construction for Foreign Scholars. Established in 1961, the six week workshop offers the men for mal training in objective measurement so they can develop new testing programs or strengthen existing ones, in their native countries.

While at ETS, they are learning how to develop education ally sound tests, write clear, concise test questions, and even gaining experience in so phisticated, statistical techniques to increase their competence in measurement.

In many cases, the countries represented by the scholars are taking another look at their traditional academic systems to satisfy new educational needs. Often essential to filling these needs are modern measurement techniques.

Given the fundamentals of the science of measurement now, each scholar can adapt his new knowledge to his own special interests. This year, these interests are wide-ranging. One aims to construct a vocational aptitude test, another a multiple-choice test in Chinese History.

Still another, Father Joseph Srinivasan from India wants to develop objective tests in science for eighth graders in the Tamil language, the language spoken in the Indian State of Madras.

Father Joseph is currently a candidate for a Ph.D. in educational research at Boston College. When he returns to India it will be as a lecturer at St. Xavier's College of Education in Madras. Then, he hopes to "begin passing on to a new generation of high school teachers the knowledge of measurement I am acquiring now."

Father Joseph claims that essay tests which were inherited when India received her independence were satisfactory for educational purposes "in another age." Today, he says, "India has new problems and new educational conditions, and we need more effective and more versatile measurement instruments."

COMPUTERS AID IN WORK

By Motor Vehicle Division. Faced with some of the world's heaviest traffic volume, the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles is expanding its computer operations to stem the flood of paper work and improve service to the public.

A computer based information system, designed to handle millions of drivers' license records, motor vehicle registrations and violation and accident reports, went into partial operation at Division headquarters here recently.

Miss June Strelecki, Director of the Division, said the new system will have a major impact on operating efficiency.

"For example, it will speed up handling of many licensing and registration operations and enable us to respond more quickly and accurately to requests for information from other state agencies.

"When the system is completed next year, the Division will be one of the most automated in the country," Miss Strelecki said.

The computer, an IBM System 360 Model 40 backed up by a smaller Model 30, is equipped with units that display information on television-like screens. Using these display stations, department personnel can see — within seconds — information on motor vehicle records stored in the computer. This data is available, on demand, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The computer's capacity to store huge amounts of data is enabling the Division to do away with millions of card files. Use of the visual display terminals — less tedious and not as time consuming as former methods — will increase the overall operating efficiency of the Division.

Involved in the changeover are about four million drivers' license records, 3.6 million motor vehicle registrations, and several million violation and accident files.

In later phases, the computer system will utilize typewriter-like terminals to help maintain drivers' license records, issue duplicate licenses, handle transfer of registrations when vehicles change hands, and prepare abstracts of driver records for insurance purposes. Terminals to handle some of these operations may be placed in field offices as well as at Division headquarters.

BUSINESS In Princeton

THE BEGINNINGS OF A VILLAGE: Herbert Kendall's new planned unit development, Twin Rivers, will feature townhouse clusters like this one, designed by Princeton architect J. Robert Hillier. From right are a three-bedroom ranch, and, in order, two-story homes of two, three and four bedrooms. Some 3,000 similar townhouses and apartments are planned. "All we are doing at Twin Rivers is what America has been doing for the past 250 years," explains Mr. Kendall. "We are creating a village."

NEW COMMUNITY OPENS

With Planned Environment. Twin Rivers, a totally planned community which will eventually house 12,000 persons, opened to the public this past week after five years of planning and preparation.

Located in East Windsor Township on 719 acres which front on Route 33, one mile east of the New Jersey Turnpike, the community will have its own schools, churches, stores, recreation facilities and industrial-research park.

Developed as a joint venture of the Kendall Development Co., headed by Princeton resident Herbert J. Kendall, builder of Kendall Park, and American Standard Inc., Twin Rivers is offering a wide choice of living quarters in an attempt to attract people of various incomes.

Included in the proposed housing are attached townhouses, detached private homes, and high rise and garden apartments. Designed by Princeton architect J. Robert Hillier, the townhouses, which are currently on exhibit, range in price from $22,000 for two bedrooms to $27,000 for four bedrooms. Each cluster of townhouses contains six dwellings, each with its own private patio and full basement. The price of the unit includes wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning and all appliances. Basements, suitable for conversion into finished rooms, are included.

On view at ribbon-cutting ceremonies last Wednesday, attending by state and municipal officials and the press, were the first seven townhouses. Some 263 townhouses and 323 apartments are expected to be completed by next spring.

The detached homes, planned for the future, will start frnm $40,000 up, and the high rise and garden apartments will have monthly reatals of $139 and up. About 420 centrally located apartments will be reserved for senior citizens, and other apartments will cater to young singles. Up keep of every sort, landscaping, lawnmowing, snow removal, lawnmowing, snow removal and garbage removal, will be the responsibility of the community management for all dwellings.

Stores, Recreation Nearby. Twin Rivers has two lakes for boating and fishing. There will be four swimming pools and 16 tennis courts. Conveaience stores in each neighborhood will provide routine shopping within walking distance, and boutiques and other shoppiog facilities will be located in the town center.

There will be 12 parks scattered over the entire complex. There are plans for five churches and two elementary schools, one of which is to open September 1970.

Although the number of residents who will actually work in Twin Rivers depends primarily on what kinds of industries located in the 216-acre industrial research park, planned as part of the "total enviornmental control," many of the residents will be able to commute conveniently to New York and Philadelphia because of the proposed express bus service. American Standard and Triangle Publications have already begon buildiog facilities.

This community is the first major planned unit development in New Jersey since the state passed a law in 1967 permitting comprehensive planning of homes, stores, industry and recreation under terms which leave the builder a freer hand in planning than he would have in the development of traditional lot by lot subdivisions.

Mr Kendall described Kendall Park as "suburbia as it was, with everyone that about the same age with the same economics." Twin Rivers is suburbia as it will become — more urban."

"Most new home communities are socially and economically monolithic," Mr. Kendall explains. They are all priced the same, and designed for similar families. When neighbors in such communities socialize, they tend to meet only people like themselves. "Our plan is to keep such groups as young singles and older adults separate, but not so far apart that the residents never see each other."

TWO POSITIONS FILLED

By National Health Show. Two Princeton area residents have been named to executive positions with the National Health Show, a central forum for major exhibits from all branches of the medical and scientific spheres.

J. Sherwood Williams of Cranbury will be vice-president for operations of the show, while Thomas M. Byrne Jr. of Princeton Junction was appointed vice president of sales.

Both appointments were announced by Edmund R. Beckwith Jr., president. A Princeton resident, Mr. Beckwith is a former president of Squibb Pharmaceutical Company.

Headquartered in offices in Research Park on Route 206, the National Health Show plans aonual tours of major Americao cities to acquaint the public with the advancements of medical knowledge. According to a show spokesman, it will be the only central exposition in the world where the public may see what is being accomplished now in medicine and health and what may be accomplished in the future.

Obituaries

Thomas L. Brophy, 52, of 25 Guilck Road, died August 10 in Princeton Hospital. He was president of Brophy's, Inc., men's shoe shop on Palmer Square.

Born in Skillman, Mr. Brophy was a former baseball player in the Tri-County and Central Jersey Leagues. He once had a tryout with the New York Giants. He was a member of Springdale Golf Club, Princeton Council 636, Knights of Columbus, and St. Paul's Church.

Mr. Brophy was for many years an enthusiastic fan of the Brooklyn Dodgers, before they deserted Ebbetts Field and moved to Los Angeles. In the days when major league baseball teams still traveled by train, he made arrangements through the Dodgers' road secretary, Harold Parrott, to book Pullman space on an adjacent car so that he might have an opportunity to meet the players whose success meant so much to him. For many years his forecast of the finish of the American and National League races was an annual spring feature in TOWN TOPICS' sports pages.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Gertrude D. Brophy; a son, Thomas Jr. of Lawrence Township; a daughter, Barbara at home; two sisters, Mrs. Marie B. Petrone of Princeton and Mrs. Stephen Woolston of Yardville, and three grandchildren.

Requiem high mass was held in St. Paul's Church and interment in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Mather Funeral Home.

Dr. Elias A. Lowe, 80, of 68 Einstein Drive died August 7 in Bad Neuheim, Germany. He was a professor of paleography at the Institute of Advanced Study.

A member of the Institute since 1936, Dr. Lowe was known for his skill in deciphering and describing ancient writings. He was checking the proofs in Germany of the 12th volume of his monumental life work, "Codices Latini Antiquiores," which will be published by Oxford University, and the proofs of a book on medieval handwriting to be published in Rome.

Dr. Lowe was also a professor at Oxford, joining the faculty in 1913. He was a Sanders reader at Cambridge University and had been an associate in paleography at the Carnegie Institution in Washington since 1911. He was also a consultant in paleography to the Library of Congress and the Vatican.

Dr. Lowe studied at City College of New York from 1894 to 1897 and was graduated from Cornell University in 1902. He did graduate work at the University of Halle, Germany, and received his doctorate from the University of Munich in 1907. From 1908 to 1910, he was a student at the American School in Rome.

He held honorary degrees from Oxford and the University of North Carolina. Among other art forms, kinetic displays and live demonstrations, the show will deal with such subjects as drug addiction among young people, improvements in diagnosis, heart ailments, veneral disease and mental illness.

Billed as "The First World's Fair of Health," the show will seek to underscore the contributions made by all medical services, voluntary health societies, governmental agencies, the private corporations that research and produce medical products and the professional groups that provide the services. In its own words, "The National Health Show will be the catalyst between health services and the public."

The show is particularly aimed at high school and college students, aiming to assist young people in planning their future careers. Noting that a serious manpower shortage exists in all medical, paramedical and research services, the show will attempt to stimulate and interest students in a career in medical service.

The show is seeking 80 to 100 exhibitors engaged in significant projects to become part of the exhibition. Four outstanding scientists have been named to serve as advisors to the show and review the scientific content of the exhibits.

They include: Doctors Louis Lasagna of Johns Hopkins Hospital and consultant to the National Cancer Institute; Arthur M. Sackler, New York Medical College trustee; Merlin K. Duval, Dean, University of Arizona College of Medicine; and social scientist Jacques Barzun of Columbia University.

Mr. Byrne was in charge of advertising space sales for Industrial Research Inc., prior to joining the National Health Show. Also formerly affiliated with Conover Mast Publications in New York, he graduated from Iona College with a degree in economics.

Mr. Williams was associate field director for the American Medical Association in the Vietnam Medical School Project. He has been a sales representative for the Hilton Corp. A native of Fort Thomas, Ky., he received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Florida State University.

The show is aiming to open at the New York Colliseum in January, 1970, ahead a year after it was first organized. Visits will be made each year to New York, Washington, Chicago and Los Angeles, with 16 other major cities visited in alternate years.

SALES UP, NET DOWN

At Applied Research, Sales were up 17% for the first half of 1969 at Princeton Applied Research Corporation, but net income dropped to $148,800—25% less than the comparable period in 1968.

The difference in earnings per share was 27 cents this year compared to 36 cents a year ago. Emil W. Lehmann, President of Applied Research, said that the lower profit figures resulted from the need to retain the large number of additional employees, and to develop new automated procedures for handling the increased volume of business.

Net sales through June 30 were $2,511,100; a year ago, the six-month figure was $2,177,500. Operating expenses increased $1,142,600 from $916,200 for the first half of 1968.

In presenting the financial report for the first six months of 1969, Mr. Lehmann indicated that despite increased labor costs and uncertainty regarding federal research funding, Princeton Applied Research Corporation experienced a net income after tax of 6% of sales, and an increased order and sales volume over preceding years. The steady increase in the growth of the corporation has led to the expansion of the production and operating staffs to the current level of 220 employees.

Mr. Lehmann indicated that the growth experienced in the past six months was marked by the development of new instruments, moderization of older units and introduction of accessories designed to broaden the application of existing products. Starting with the third quarter of 1969, P.A.R. will issue operating results on a quarterly basis.

While at Yale, he was the recipient of a National Defense Education Act Title IV fellowship. Dr. Clover is a member of Tau Beta P; and Kappa Alpha fraternity.

CASTLE HOWARD COURT

This fine two-year-old Colonial reproduction, with its authentic details of narrow clapboards, wood shingle roof, square sturdy chimney, and wide pine floors, exemplifies the tradition of its location on the former grounds of one of Princeton's early historic pre-revolutionary houses. A spacious entry hall opens to a well proportioned living room with fireplace and Colonial mantel and wood box. Adjoining is a cozy, paneled study with bookshelves. Across the hall is a separate dining room with chair rail and corner cupboard. Designed after the old "keeping room," the informal living room or family room, with its massive brick fireplace and huge beam mantel and beamed ceiling, is convenient to a most workable kitchen with unusually fine appliances, including a double self-cleaning oven, Kitchenaid dishwasher, etc. A separate laundry room and lavatory complete the first floor. On the second floor off a spacious stair hall, there are four family bedrooms and a full tile bath, with double vanity sink. In addition there is a master bedroom with four closets, one a huge walk-in, a fireplace and a thoughtfully designed dressing-bath. There is a storage attic; a full, dry basement, with ample room for a future playroom; and central air conditioning. A gracefully curving brick terrace overlooks the tree-shaded rear yard. Immediate occupancy. $85,000

HOUGHTON REAL ESTATE

WESTERN BOROUGH BUILDING SITE

Build an elegant townhouse on one of the very last pieces of land available in Princeton's Western Borough. Your house will nestle under fine old trees and will be protected by tall hedges on this over-half-an-acre property. The price sounds high, but since vacant land in our best neighborhood is almost non-existent, the cost is realistic and actually a very good opportunity either for building or as an investment. $45,000

Massive hand hewn risers lead to 2 bedrooms and a bath on the 2nd floor. Additional pluses are: screened back porch, fenced play area, playhouse and above ground pool. $12,500

If Princeton Township is your vision, why not a pretty little house in a fine neighborhood. It has a family room with fireplace laundry room, storage room, living room with fireplace, 3 bedrooms and 1½ baths. Central air-conditioning. $12,500

Any of them are available from the owner-builder as a package situation, with house plans suited to your individual needs. HOW BADLY HAS KENNEDY BEEN HURT? Both Anthony Leonie (left) and Anthony MacNicoll feel Ted Kennedy's chances of becoming president have been permanently hurt as a result of the Mary Jo Kopechne incident. "He panics too easily," said Mr. Leonie. "He's shown he has no mind of his own," commented Mr. MacNicoll. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: In your opinion, has the Mary Jo Kopechne incident permanently hurt the chances of Ted Kennedy becoming president?

Where asked? Around town.

Anthony Leonie, Highway 31, Pennington plumbing and heating contractor: Definitely. I don't want him heading the government. He panics too easily. As a senator, I suppose you could panic, but not as president; a president's got to keep his cool. Whether he was drunk or not, he shouldn't have done what he did. It's a shame but when you're in public life you can't act just like everyone else.

Anthony MacNicoll, Trenton, plumber for Mr. Leonie: Far as I'm concerned, he has no chance at all. I just got out of the service and I think of what he could do to the guys still in. He could really mess them up. The way it sits now, four different people would be running the country if he became president. Someone would have to tell him what to do because he's shown he has no mind of his own. How could he make a good president if he had to go to someone else for all his decisions?

Reginald Peniston, University campus, director of the Street Academy Program: Yes, I'd say so. The whole affair is kind of shaky. The senator has been very secretive about it, even though he's been on television. When you have an auto accident, you can get to a phone anywhere. That seven or eight hours it took to report it just doesn't make any sense. The first thing you do when you have an accident is to call the police. By waiting, he must have something he wants to hide.

Irving Cadoff, White Plains, N. Y., professor at NYU: If I had to vote for him today, I wouldn't. But if I had to vote for him six years from now I might reconsider. I think a lot of people feel the same way.

Lawrence C Oakely, Greenbrook, sales manager: No, because of the word "permanently". I think this has a temporary effect that will last some indeterminate time — two years, four years . . . but, frankly, I think time will mend it.

Mrs. David Jensen, 51 Maple Street, manager of The Ladybug: Yes,. I think he shouldn't have panicked in time of stress and this is something we wouldn't want in any president.

Mrs. Nancy Bamford, New Hope, Pa., manager of the Merry Mites and Gay Sprites Shop, Nassau Street: If he were drinking and he was too drunk to realize what he was doing, there I don't think it will hurt him permanently. People are human and everyone has a little too much to drink now and then. If he were sober and he ran away, I think it will hurt him. This sounds harsh but this is the way I feel.

Cindy Haldane, 456 Ewing Street, PHS student: Yes, I think so. If he didn't have money, he'd be in a bad situation. I think people are smart enough to realize that just because of his two brothers, Robert and Jack, that Ted is not necessarily as good as they were. I think he was drunk. That's why he waited so long to report it so he could sober up.

Stanley Sadovy, Trenton, driver for Princeton-Windsor News Service: I don't think it will really hurt his chances. People have short memories. Kennedy is the biggest name in politics in my lifetime and I feel even if the politicians try to bring it up in '76, it will be long forgotten by then. No one's popularity at times. I'm a Kennedy man but I'm still a little skeptical: he's left many unanswered questions. Even so, there's no question that he'll be re-elected senator.

Bruce Daniels, Belle Mead: I think they have but they really shouldn't have been. Anybody can have a car accident like that. Just because he is a public figure it's hurt him and it shouldn't be that way.

Richard Brantley, Lawrence Apartments, graduate student in English: No, I don' think so. By 1976 people will have forgotten the few remaining unanswered questions.

Miss Judy Kaiser, Kingston, social worker: I look on it as just one more thing in a long line of questionable activities like his cheating on a Harvard exam. Yes, I think it has.

Mrs. Piero Aragno, 58 N Stanworth, housewife: No, not at all. Not with the unpredictable nature of the American voting public.

Miss Patricia Otto, Nelson Ridge, freshman at Boston College: I think it definitely has. I didn't know a lot of things that are coming out now about his being irresponsible. I don't think a lot of people realized this before. I'll be able to vote in the next election and I know I wouldn't vote for him because I can't trust him now.

THE LION IN WINTER: A family moment at the castle, with Henry II held at bay by his beleaguered king, and Katharine Hepburn plays Eleanor of Aquitaine in the historical film now at the Garden and Prince.

In Intime's production of the Shaw play, Eric Von Starck appears as Captain Shotover, the off-center old man of the sea who runs Heartbreak House. (Intime audiences will remember Mr. Von Starck as M. Beaureveres in "A Shot in the Dark.") and as Cardinal Woolsey in "Anne of the Thousand Days.")

Beverly Rogers plays Hesione Hushahye, the lady who finds lovers for her husband That was Miss Rogers as Regina in "The Little Foxes," earlier in Intime's summer.

Lady Utterword will be Gilia Pagano who was Alexander in "Little Foxes", and Deborah Savadge, who was the Parformaid in "Shot in the Dark," will be Ellie Dunn in "Heartbreak House."

Brendan Burke, guest director for Intime, directed the Shaw. He was McCarter's director for "The Plough and the Stars" and starred in McCarter's "Charley's Aunt."

GARDEN & PRINCE

The Lion in Winter (now playing) The clash of two heroic characters, King Henry II of England and his queen, Eleanor of Aquitaine, makes brilliant drama out of fragments of distant history. Peter O'Tool and Katharine Hepburn are the magnificent, proud and royal pair who tower above their contemporaries and their times.

In the fierce love-hate confrontations of Henry and Eleanor, expressed in stinging dialogue, they goad, threaten, infuriate, denounce, tease and cajole one another — not only in an effort to secure the crown for their favorites, but also for the pure sport of it.

Eleanor has long been confined to Salisbury Castle for leading a rebellion against her husband. On special occasions, however, the sovereigns unite, and so, on Christmas of 1183, Eleanor joins Henry at Chinon where the aging monarch must choose a successor from his three sons: Richard, Eleanor's favorite; Geoffrey, largely ignored by both parents, and John, the youngest, adored by Henry.

Also present are Henry's young mistress, Alais, and her brother, the 16 year-old Philip of France. The action moves with plots and counterplots by everyone. The film is memorably set in 12th century castles — bare, austere, real down to the mud and the chickens underfoot.

PLAYHOUSE and DRIVE-IN

MacKenon's Gold (now playing) is an absorbing adventure story and fable reminiscent of "The Treasure of Sierra Madre."

It's a western in the classic sense — with the grandeur of the Arizona desert, the breadth of its morality play theme (human greed and poetic justice), and the number and variety of its shoot-outs. Take a regiment of U.S. cavalry, a band of hard-riding, screaming Apaches, a bunch of townies willing to kill anyone for a chance at Apache gold; add a passel of cutthroat outlaws and a marshall who's as fast on the draw as Wyatt Earp — and you can imagine how often the rifle and pistol shots reverberate in the canyons.

Everything is a little larger than life. Gregory Peck is the honest marshall, MacKenna, whose only human failing is a

GYPSY COLORS in a patchwork print dress, cut in the shirtdress style and accented with a jaunty scarf-tie, is among the young fashions at Robert Hall., U.S. 1 at Lawrenceville., No-iron. too. (Sizes 7-14, $2.99)

IT'S NEW To Us

ACCENT ON FAMILY

At Robert Hall. To those of us who associate Robert Hall with men's clothing, a trip to the store on U.S. 1 near Lawrenceville is a happy reminder that they carry a wide selection of clothes for women, for girls, for moppets, toddlers and infants. In fact, Robert Hall is for the whole family.

Manager Alexander Grabarek is enthusiastic over the fall things that are now on display, and when you measure the good fabric and fashion styling against the surprisingly low prices, you'll wade right in.

Starting with the youngsters (who are growing faster than your income) Robert Hall carries some handsome sport jackets in youthful plaids, ranging from conservative to out-going. In pure wool or wool blends. The cost tags ($14.99 and $18.99) include the price of alterations. In wide wale corduroy, there's the new double-breasted jacket that has the added advantage of being wrinkle-free ($10.99 and $14.99 including alterations).

The neat generation boys will go for the never-iron dress slacks ($4 49 for sizes 6 to 10, and $5.49 for sizes 12-18), and the never-iron dress shirts in the season's bold new colors, tailored with a designer look. ($2.99, sizes 6 to 18). And of course, neckties ranging from regimental stripes to the wide and handsome.

For the girls, the no-iron fabrics are in strong evidence, coming up in some very pretty styles that mean no bother at all for their leisure hours, marvelous plaid slacks, the with-it style of flare leg and sash. These are in bonded-for-shape acrylic fabric, with contrasting colors brightening the plaid. (Sizes 7-14, $4.99).

A patch pocket shirt in solid color Dacron-and-cotton goes well with the slacks. (2.99)

Among the women's things, we were fascinated by the pure wool double knits imported from Hong Kong. Designed by Gina Teresa, the knits are a great buy for all year wear. The three piece outfits are highlighted with crochet trims, self buttons, and on some, interesting stripes in contrasting color. (Sizes 8-18, $26.88)

Robert Hall has a four-piece "weekender" outfit that includes a pair of solid color slacks (slight flare), matching blouse, a long tunic vest in bold plaid with a chain closing, and a slim skirt. The outfit is made of Orlon, beautifully bonded to retain its shape. (Sizes 8 16, $14.99)

Coats for all occasions, and for girls right on up to grandmother, are certainly plentiful at Robert Hall. We were stopped by the black-on-white jungle look of a dashing belted coat in rayon pile. Fur fakes are always amusing.

This one has leathery vinyl covered buttons and buckle, and a swaggeringly high collar. There are off-to-the-side pleats in back and patch pockets. ($19.99)

Another groovy fur fake looks like white mink.

If white mink is for you, but not your budget, Robert Hall has a sumptuously deep white pile coat, with a big, swooping collar. A marvelously soft, supple coat, it's belted in with a casual, wide tie of the same "fur." ($19.99)

For men and youths, Robert Hall has come up with a four-piece suit. It teams a suit jacket, matching trousers, contrast slacks and a reversible vest (houndstooth check pattern on one side). Made in pure wools and worsteds, it offers instant mix and match. ($69.95 and $77.95, including alterations)

Men's sweaters on hand include brushed V neck pullovers in soft worsted-and mohair ($9.95), and Argyle plaid cardigans in the same blend ($12.95). To go with them, jeans in solid colors or checks, (about $5 or $6) and sport shirts ($3.99). The jeans and shirts are no-iron, and are color coordinated.

For fall, too, Robert Hall has love of gambling. Omar Sharif is in sharp contrast as the flamboyant, deadly bandit, Colorado.

The film is studded with top talent: Telly Savalas as Sgt. Tibbs who murders two of his men to join the gold hunters; Keenan Wynn as the bandid Sanches; Ted Cassidy, whose eloquent speaking voice is never heard, as the silent Apache Hachita; Lee J. Cobb, Raymond Massey, Burgess Meredith, Anthony Quayle, Edward G. Robinson and Eli Wallach — all seen too briefly as gold-crazed "Gentlemen from Hadleyburg."

Among the hand tohand combats is a swimming scene where nude Julie Newmar frolics to drown fully clothed Camilla Sparv. The musical score by Quincy Jones includes a song, "Old Turkey Buzzard," sung by blind guitarist-singer Jose Feliciano.

In the main, it's an action-packed shoot-em up, with the cliches offset by breath-taking location sites and magnificent photography.

NEXT: "THE PRICE"

At Bucks County Playhouse

In rehearsal now for opening Monday evening at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pa., is Arthur Miller's newest drama "The Price," which just completed a two season run on Broadway. "Born Yesterday," Garson Kanin's famous comedy, entered its second and last week at the playhouse.

The play "The Price" revolves around the relationship of two brothers, one a success and the other a failure, who have not seen each other in years. They meet in their childhood home to settle the estate of their late father. The encounter brings up old resentments and fears with one overwhelming question — was the price too high that each has paid for his life's decision?

Also planned for the playhouse are four special preview performances of "Hamlet" and "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" presented for two performances each, in repertory, September 4-6. The pairing of these English masterpieces, one a classic and the other recently completing two seasons on Broadway, has never been staged before, and marks a theatrical first.

The performance schedule for the two plays is: "Hamlet" Thursday, September 4 and Saturday (Mat.) September 6. "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern" Friday, September 5 and Saturday (Eve.), September 6, with matinee at 2 and evening performances at 8:30.

The Prince Street Players of WCBS-TV are continuing their children's shows at the Playhouse. The popular theatre company performs their original musical versions of children's tales each Thursday morning at 11 a.m. Future productions include "Alice in Wonderland" on August 14 and "Mother Goose Go Go" on August 21.

ROCK GROUP AND REVUE

At Lambertville Music Circus. The Alexander Rabbit, hard rock artists who have recorded on several nationally prominent record labels and have toured with some of the finest groups, will appear Saturday at 9:45 p.m. at St. John Terrell's Music Circus in Lambertville.

This original sounding group has toured with the Lovin' Spoonful, Paul Revere and the Raiders, Jay and the Americans, Tommy James and the Shondells. They have recorded their own work with United Artists, Jubilee, and RCA, and recently released a record with Herb Alpert's A&M Company entitled, "Malaguena" and "I Didn't Even Thank Her."

Appearing Monday through Saturday August 23, at the Music Circus will be the Jewel Box Revue, a unique musical comedy of female impersonators with elaborate and elegant costumes and richly colorful sets, the illusion of confusion is presented by twenty-five men and a girl. Performances on Monday through and including Thursday are at 8:30, on Friday at 8:30 and at 12:00 midnight and on Saturday at 6:00 and 9:45 p.m.

Tickets for all performances may be obtained by writing to the Music Circus, Lambertville or by calling the box office at 397-1500.

So, start making up a list of your family's needs.

COPPER AND BRASS

And Quilt Tops. Over in Hopewell is The Black Kettle, home of antiques and fascinating odds & ends for nearly 20 years. Located at 47 W. Broad Street in a roomy, cool store, it displays its wares in an uncrowded setting.

When we were there, owner Spencer Moore was off on his honeymoon. His mother, Mrs. Eliza Moore, was minding the store, as she had done in the years before he took it over from her. The Black Kettle actually is the outgrowth of Mrs. Moore's late husband's interest in antiques. After he retired, he turned his hobby into a business.

"You have to love antiques —and you have to study," Mrs. Moore says. She's a great believer in getting children interested in collecting. "They learn so much," she says.

"Some will collect buttons, or Indian artifacts, or salts, little boxes, keys, horse bits, fans, bat pins — there're so many things. They don't have to be expensive. I love to see children interested in things, and I always talk to them when they come in here."

The Black Kettle specializes in lamps and has accessories to electrify them and scented oils to burn in them, whichever interests you. The shop always has a lot of chairs that need to be re-seated. Customers buy them to finish and cane (or rush) in the adult school classes.

We noticed a cherry Chippendale bureau, with four graduated drawers and the original brass, that may or many not be there when you call. And a mahogany drop leaf dining table that seats eight.

There's a lot of copper and brass — brass pails and buckets, copper wash boilers (for your fireplace wood or magazines); a brass fireplace trivet, lamps, candlesticks and fireplace fenders, all in brass. There was a copper tea kettle when we were there, but you know how those things go. And a copper snuffer tray, with the silver wearing off.

The potpourri in an antique shop is ever-intriguing and The Black Kettle is no different: fireplace mantles—even one with the original blue paint —old mirrors, arrowback chairs (set of four), and irons, pressed pattern glass, platters — some Limoges — quilt tops, and one of the nicest Victorian hanging lamps we've seen, made of copper and brass, with dangling prisms.

Along one wall are the picture frames, some scrolled, others recessed; some a tarnished gilt, others painted. A clock chimes, its tone so mellow that your eyes search to find it. In the cases are salts, sauce dishes, old eyeglasses, spoons, and a great variety of mementoes of yesteryear.

Mrs. Moore, who was born in Princeton and has lived in Hopewell for the past 45 years, is a delightful, low-pressure person to talk with. And be sure you check the attic, where the non-antiques are stashed away, for the odds and ends that may be just what you've been looking for.

The Black Kettle is open 9 to 5 daily and by appointment. Closed on Sundays.

BOYS VIEW ENGINEERING

In Summer Program. In an unusual attempt at community university educational cooperation, Princeton University's School of Engineering and Applied Science is currently offering 18 black Borough and Township boys a six week initiation into the mysteries of aircraft, electricity, structural design and computers.

Ranging in age from 11 to 15, the boys are delivered by bus to the University every weekday for a morning of short lectures, experiments, demonstrations, tours of Princeton facilities, and then lunch. Divided into three smaller groups, they move in three two week sessions through the Department of Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences, the Department of Civil and Geological Engineering, and the Department of Electrical Engineering.

Led by volunteer faculty members, sessions include such basic engineering methods and activities as building and launching model rockets, testing model gliders in a wind tunnel, analyzing electrical circuitry or structural plans, building a flashing "strobe light," learning about computers and slide rules and mathematical formulas.

The project, known as "Pilot Program: Summer in Engineering," began July 7 and ends Friday. A Community Planning Committee, formed and headed by Township Committeeman James A. Floyd, has been responsible for the general design of the program, raising funds from local donors, selecting the participants, assisting University personnel during the summer, and evaluation.

Members of the committee include the following Princeton residents, in addition to Mr. Floyd: Mrs. Sara B. Harris, Laurence Houston, Mary Moore, and Mrs. David H. Taylor; Virginia Euell, a Trenton resident who is assistant to the principal at Valley Road School; two Princeton University undergraduates, Lonnie Crowder and Cornelius Griffith; two high school students, Leon Meekins of Trenton, and James Phox of Princeton; and three Princeton faculty members: David P. Billington, Howard C. Curtiss, Jr., and Peter Mark. Messrs. Crowder, Griffith, Meekins and Phox are also spending the summer as paid counsellors in the program.

Town-Gown Cooperation. Three goals have been listed for the program: to provide the youths with a valuable educational experience so they will be better motivated toward their school work; to show the youngsters and their parents that the University is not an "ivory tower"; that the work which goes on and the people who do the work at the University are very much concerned with the real world; and to open new avenues of town-gown educational cooperation.

With the program in its final week, participants believe it has demonstrated a number of successes. Daily attendance has been good, students have shown a lively interest in their work, problems have been mostly minor, and solid relationships have been built among the groups involved.

Princeton faculty members donating their teaching efforts to the program in addition to Profs. Billington, Curtiss, and Mark, include: Ronald P. Andreas; Robert C. Axtmann; William E. Boini; Roald Buhler; Heinrich D. Holland; Robert Mark; Rowland Richards, Jr.; Barrie S. H. Royce; and Steve M. Slaby.

PICNIC PLANNED

For Foreign Students. Young scholars from abroad who have been living with "home-stay" families in the Princeton area under the Experiment in International Living, will gather this Saturday for a swim-picnic.

The outing will be held, starting at 3 p.m., at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Peter Baumecker, Moore's Mill-Mt. Rose Road, Hopewell.

Students, in the college and graduate school age range, come from Kenya, France, Mexico, Denmark, Switzerland and the Dominican Republic. The purpose of their stay in Princeton homes is to experience American life at first hand, and also to have a "home away from home."

SWIM FOR A PENNY

At Y Carnival. Swimmers age 3 to 17 will participate in a candle relay, a penny pitch, and a diving contest at Young Women's Christian Association's water carnival next Thursday from 2:45 to 3:45 p.m. at the YW-YMCA pool, Avalon Place.

Participants can attempt to recover the pennies for their admission during the penny pitch. A tug-of-war will cap the other team events.

The event will conclude the summer term's swimming instruction program led by Mrs

A BUSY NIGHT IN COURT

13 Dog Owners and Mr. De Cavalcante. Simone R. DeCavalcante and 13 Township dog owners were among those fined by Municipal Court Judge Burton Peskin last Wednesday night in a busy Township court session.

Mr. DeCavalcante, 1015 Mercer Road, well-known as the reputed head of a Cosa Nostra family, was fined $7 and $5 court costs for driving seven miles over the speed limit on Mercer Road on March 12. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of driving 52 miles-per-hour in a 45-mile per hour zone.

The case was prosecuted by a deputy from the State Attorney General's office, Clinton Cronin, who was called in by State Police, who made the arrest. "It's procedure where there's an attorney and we think we'll get a hard time," explained State Police Sgt. Richard Decker of the Princeton Station.

David Beckerman of Newark, Mr. DeCavalcante's attorney, questioned State Trooper Joseph Calhoaro, the arresting officer, about alleged harassment of his client. Trooper Calhoaro said he had not staked out Mr. DeCavalcante's house, and did not recognize his car or its driver. Mr. DeCavalcante testified that the trooper's car was parked, then followed him toward Princeton.

According to Mr. Beckerman, Mr. DeCavalcante received another ticket, two days before March 12, this time for changing lanes on Route One without giving a proper signal. The charge has not been heard yet.

Twelve of the thirteen dog owners fared no better than Mr. De Cavalcante and paid fines of $10 for allowing their dogs to run at large unaccompanied.

They included: Henry Sommers, 207 Riverside Drive; W. W. Brickley, 146 Snowden Lane; M. R. Peattie, 43 Clover Lane; Mrs. Markell Shriver, the Great Road; J. K. Randall, 52 Gulick Circle; Mrs. Elizabeth Neilson, 59 Snowden Lane; Santo Tocco, 406 Terhune Road; P. H. Weymar, 484 Prospect Avenue; A. W. Bullock, 234 Dodds Lane; and Robert Englebrecht, 145 Mansgrove Road. Lymon Spitzer Jr., 659 Lake Drive and Russell Thayer, 21 Lilac Lane, were found guilty of violating the ordinance on two occasions and each paid $20. Mr. Thayer pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Eric James, 140 Poe Road, was found guilty, but his fine of $10 was suspended. He also pleaded not guilty. The total of 15 summonses handed out, brought the total to 31, since the ordinance went into effect July 1.

MAN SENTENCED 60 DAYS

For Assault on Nurse. In criminal court last Wednesday afternoon, James I. Davis, 23, of 240 John Street, was sentenced to 60 days in the Mercer County Workhouse by Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. for the July 13 assault on Mrs. Willie Mae Tadlock, a nurse on duty at the time at the Princeton Nursing Home on Quarry Street. Davies received credit for serving 25 days while his trial was pending, and is now serving the remaining 35.

In other cases, Arthur Barclay, 28, of 252 John Street, was also found guilty of assault and was fined $25 and put on probation for six months. Stuart Napper, 20 Lytle Street, received a 30-day suspended sentence after he was found guilty of using loud and profane language. John Letnom, 32 Birch Avenue, was found guilty of the same charge and paid $25.

Richard T. Mastran, 22, of Trenton, waived a preliminary hearing and will appear before a grand jury to answer a charge of possession of narcotics.

14 Lettermen (9 Starters) Lost to Tiger Football Team for '69

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK — I

(This is the first of a series of four articles on Princeton's football prospects for 1969.)

Fourteen Lettermen Lost. Jake McCandless has one thing going for him in his first year as Princeton's head football coach: the losses he has incurred are concentrated in just two places. As a result, while the rebuilding task formidable, some major segments of the 1969 squad the backfield, the linebackers the defensive secondary) retain virtually intact.

Of the 14 lettermen who will not be available (12 graduated) two have given up the sport), six were starters in the offensive line and two others were the hard core of the front five on defense. If football games are won up front and on a season long basis, this is as firm an axiom as the game has the task of restoring the Tigers to their winning ways after a disappointing 1968 Season is one of considerable magnitude.

If there is a wealth of backfield material, how can it operate efficiently if an inexperienced line fails to provide the necessary blocking? If the defensive secondary has a good combination of speed and experience, how effective can it be if it is overmatched because the front five isn't doing the job at the line of scrimmage or on rushing the passer?

Some of the losses by graduation involve three-year veterans, whose names stir memories of the major upset of Harvard in 1966. It was in that already legendary 10-7 triumph over the previously unbeaten Crimson that tackle Bruce Eckman and guard Joe

BIG MAN TO REPLACE: Dave Bantz, 6-6, 245-lb tackle, will be missing from the offensive platoon after two seasons as a regular on the Princeton football team. He is one of six starting linemen who will have to be replaced by the Tigers this fall.

SPORTS in Princeton

Freschi came of age with their stand out blocking, while on the opposite platoon, sophomore Dick Sandler showed as well as a defensive tackle. All three were three year letter men, and all three are gone.

Where It Hurts Most. Pass lines hardest hit are end and tackle — half of the 14 lost to the coaching staff filled out of those two spots. Nine of the 14 were starters and only one of the five who were reserves was used so sparingly that he saw action in less than 100 plays.

Last season, Princeton took part in 1,627 plays. With platoon football cutting the figure in two for each man's total potential time on the field, anything over 700 would indicate that a man was in such demand that a substitute was rarely sent in for him. In 1968, center Bob Slivinski was over the ball on 707 plays — high individual total for the season.

The Losses. By positions, these are the players whose places must be filled in 1969:

Ends: Two on offense (Mike Gatton and Ron Prusek, both 6-1, 200 pounders) and Len Brown a reserve on defense. Gatton and Prusek were both starters last fall, the former serving as a regular for two seasons. Their departure has caused McCandless to label this position on the offensive platoon as "definitely one of the team's trouble spots." Brown would have been a senior but had transferred to a West Coast college.

Tackles: Here again, the biggest losses are on offense, where both regulars and one of the key reserves have graduated. In addition to Eckman, big Dave Bantz (6-6, 245) has finished his career, as has Bob Jakse, used with some frequency as Eckman's replacement. Eckman and Bantz were rated as good a pair of starting tackles as the Tigers have had in several seasons. The defensive tackle who graduated is 250-lb. Tim McCann, a top pass rusher who broke into the starting lineup as a junior and showed consistant improvement in his final two years here.

Guards: The number of men lost here is down to two, but they could hardly have been more valuable. Joe Freschi, a solid six-footer who weighed 207 pounds, was all football player: hard nosed, fast, a fine blocker. On defense, 6-3, 215-lb. Dick Sandler served as tackle for two seasons before moving into the vital middle guard slot. From the middle of the season of their sophomore year, both Freschi and Sandler were stamped as players of much more than average ability.

Center: Now the number is down to one — but 225-lb. Bob Slivinski played so much, and had the knack of snapping the ball down so adeptly — particularly for punts and points after touchdown — that he will be extremely difficult to replace. A good blocker, he was a two year regular.

Offensive Backs: The principal loss here is Jim Kolaski, the wingback (right half) in what proved to be Princeton's last year of relying solely on the single wing. Injury prone, he finally got a chance to play regularly in the middle of his junior year and from that time on, showed consistently as a good blocker, runner and receiver.

Also now an alumnus is Rich Bracken, who had the misfortune of playing his best football as a sophomore, when he broke into the lineup as the partially successful conversion to fullback, but by the end of his senior year was the third-ranked tailback. He saw action last fall in only 245 plays, over 100 less than the often spectacular sophomore Brian McCullough.

WINNER IN TRENTON: Mary Lapidus of Princeton traveled to Trenton last week and came back with both the girls' 16 singles and girls' 18 singles titles, plus the girls' doubles crown, which she won with Dede Pickering, another Princetonian, in the Trenton Junior Tennis Championships.

Defensive Secondary: Bill Bittner, often bothered by a knee injury and used in only 98 plays last season, was the lone senior letterman in this segment of the 1968 squad. He was a linebacker. Also gone is Mike Bigby, a two-year veteran who started last fall as a corner back. He has given up the sport for 1969.

Most other Ivy colleges will lose more lettermen from the past season than the Tigers. Hardest hit is defending champion Yale, which will part with 28 if the report is true that quarterback Bob Bayless, a senior, has left college for academic reasons.

Harvard, the pre-season favorite despite numerous gaps to fill, has seen 24 letter-men depart. Other losses: Cornell, 20; Penn, 17; Brown, 15; Columbia, 13; Dartmouth, 11.

Tigers Second Winningest

Since it began playing football a century ago, Princeton has won 592 games—second in the nation only to Yale. The Elis, who started with a victory over Columbia in 1872, have recorded 627 triumphs.

Four Ivy League teams in all top the membership in the "400 Club"—the 25 colleges which have won that many games since they began to play the sport. Harvard and Penn follow Princeton and Yale with 574 apiece.

Dartmouth is in tenth place with 456, Cornell is 15th with 437. Michigan, Notre Dame, Texas, Army and Alabama are others in the first ten.

Some time early next year—unless they manage an 81 season this fall the Tigers will record victory No. 600. And if they can just average two more games won per year than Yale, they can be tops in the nation by 1987.

TIBBEE TITLES WON

By Princeton's Mary Lapidus

Mary Lapidus of Princeton won two singles championships and shared the doubles last week in the Trenton Junior Tennis championships held at Cadwalader Park. The event was sanctioned by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Dede Pickering, also of Princeton, and Miss Lapidus reached the finals in both the girls' 16 singles and 18 singles with Miss Lapidus winning both, and losing only four games in the process.

In the doubles, Miss Lapidus and Miss Pickering lived up to their top seeding, defeating Mary Hirst and Mary Doerman 9-7, 6-4. Unseeded Cindy Johnson captured the girls' 11 singles, upsetting top ranked Binney Brady, 6-0, 6-0.

Steve Tobolsky, a member of Princeton High's fine team, also pulled an upset, beating Ricky Ponti, top seeded in the boys' 16 singles, and then winning the final from Bruce Isadore, 6-3, 6-4. Tobolsky then teamed with Steve Sword to capture the boys' doubles, 10-8, 8-6.

RACES STILL TIGHT

In Both BSL Divisions. The regular season of the Business Softball League ends a week from this Tuesday and the battles for first place in both divisions still remain to be settled. In the west, NCA, BCA A and possibly Columbian Carbon still have a shot at first, while Accelerator and McGraw-Hill are neck and neck in the east.

Rainouts have forced several postponements in games, leaving the top competitors with a varying number of games left to play. Accelerator is in good shape with no make-ups scheduled, having played two last week. In the first FMC was knocked off, 8-3, and in the second American Cyanamid fell, 8-4.

Jack Bartow was the winning hurler on both occasions. Accelerator trailed 3-1 against FMC as late as the fifth inning, but came up with a seven-run outburst to seal the decision. John Rzuczek and Joe McFadden both had three hits in four at bats.

The Cyanamid contest was also a struggle, tied 4-4 in the seventh frame. This time, a four-run rally paved the way, with Cyanamid errors aiding the cause. Tony Gervasio collected two safeties for the winners. Bon Lopata and Bob Bayley had two hits apiece for Cyanamid.

McGraw Hill, at 11-2, is a half game behind and will play a make-up contest with ETS on August 18. Of the games the two teams have left, Accelerator probably has the toughest: its final game is against a rejuvenated RCA B squad.

Do you want to believe in God?

You can. Not just because of what someone says about God. But because of what you yourself can learn and prove about divine Love.

Like the women who was instantly freed by an assailant one night — when she turned to God in prayer. Or the entertainer whose back was healed through prayer after he was told he couldn't walk without surgery.

These individuals found that divine Love meets even the most challenging human needs . . . that powerful spiritual laws are available for anyone to use.

You can learn more of these laws by reading this week's Bible Lesson.

DOUBLES CHAMPIONS: Alden Dunham and Rom Ramnath (second and third from left) won the YMCA Men's Doubles Tournament, defeating Fritz Dumpel and Bill Humes (next to them, above), 6-3, 6-1. In semi-final matches, Dunham and Ramnath won over Matt Jones and Harrison Fraker, while Dumpel and Humes eliminated Bill McClung and John Glouchevitch. Forty-two teams, largest in the history of the event, entered the tournament. With the finalists in the picture are William K. Selden, chairman of the Community Tennis Program (left) and John Bauman, Jr., Men's Tournament Chairman.

days last week its fifth and sixth straight. RCA B upped its mark to 8-6, and moved in to third place. It whipped EMR, 22-6, in the rain for its first victory. Bob and Ed Krieger blasted four baggers, with the former collecting four hits. Tom Connelly and Bill Procaccini had three hits apiece, with Bob Nielsen the winning pitcher.

A day later, Tom Ward was on the mound, as RCA edged ERC, 7-6. The winners got their runs early, on the hitting of Joe Santoianso, Joe Greppe and Fred Subish, and held on.

In the west, NCA leads with a 10-2 mark, but has two make up games; RCA A is second at 10-3, and Columbian Carbon third, 10-4. Carbon won last week, beating Hopewell TV, 15-3.

It was a long time coming, but after 13 consecutive losses, EMR finally found the winning combination. On the mound, pitcher Lee Buchanan held ETS to just nine hits, while EMR batters pounded out 19 of their own, for a 8-3 win. Barry Carlson and Bucky Osborn each had a homer, and Ernie Powers, Joe DiBenedetto and Ted Lake each had three hits. To all this the winners also added a tight defense. It's a little too late to think about the playoffs, but watch out next year.

EAGLES WIN TITLE

In PBA League. A pair of shutout victories brought home the championship of the PBA Baseball League to the Eagles last week. Coached by George Pierre, the Eagles blanked Post 76, 3-0, and Roma Eterna, 1-0, to finish with a 12-2 mark. Against Post 76, 16 year-old Joe Hermann fanned four and allowed only two hits, one by Pete Soderman and one by Tony Trani. Dan Delvecchio, George Reynolds and Peter Neuwirth had the hits for the winners.

In the second contest, Delvecchio took over the pitching duties and hurled a one-hitter, while striking out 10. Delvecchio, Neuwirth, Reynolds and Ed Vulz led the victors' hitting attack. John Boccanfuso got the loser's lone safety.

Italian American Sportsmen wound up in second place with a 10-3 record, beating Hook & Ladder, 4-1. Felix Brown was impressive on the mound for the Sportsmen, striking out eight in four innings. Losing hurler, Tony Ferrara, fanned 11.

Engine Co. No. 1 split a pair of games, defeating the Elks, 13-0, and losing to Post 76, 6-5.

Against the Elks, Larry Howell led the attack with two triples, a single and five RBIs. Nine-year-old Bobby Willis got his first hit of the season and then proceeded to steal second, third and home. Mike Boccanfuso hurled the shutout, fanning 11, and allowing three singles by Kim Beasley and Dan Clohossey. The game was called in the sixth because of darkness.

In its triumph, Post 76 scored two runs in the bottom of the final inning on hits by Soderman, O'Neill and Gary Lauck. No. 1 managed only two hits this time, one by Mike Boccanfuso and one by Marty Burke. Tom Stange and Soderman shared the pitching duties for Post 76, striking out 15 between them.

PENNS NECK IN FIRST

In Tennis League. Bernie Mockler and Jay Sexton won an exciting three-set victory last week to put Penns Neck in first place in the West Windsor evening doubles tennis league. Mockler and Sexton beat Berrien City's Norm Nuding and Jack Baer, 8-6, 1-6, 6-4. In the only other match able to be played due to the rain, Tony Zuccarello and Bill Novelli of Dutch Neck played to a draw against the Princeton Junction squad of Walter Carvin and Deane Bornheimer. Each team won a set by a 6-4 margin, and rain halted the third set at two games apiece.

WATERMAN LEAVES HUN

For Newark College Post. Hawley Waterman, Hun School athletic director, football and lacrosse coach for the past 13 years, has resigned to become athletic director at Newark State College.

Also a member of the Hun faculty as a math teacher, Waterman is a graduate of Springfield College, where he received bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education. He had previously taught at Worcester Academy and St. James School. In addition to his duties at Hun, Waterman served as director of the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League for the past several years, and he recently authored the book, "Extra Man Offense."

At Newark State, Waterman will also start the college football program. He coached the Hun football team through the 1968 season, leaving it undefeated in 21 games, and an 18-0-3 record overall. His team tied for the Penn-Jersey League championship last year.

David Leete, who had replaced Waterman as head football coach at Hun, will also take over as athletic director. Leete also coaches basketball and baseball.

MOVING TO A NEW JOB: Hawley Waterman has resigned his post as athletic director at the Hun School after 13 years to take a similar position at Newark State College and develop the football program there.

Tigers Close to the Top

During the past seven years, only four college basketball teams in the nation have compiled a better won-lost average than Princeton. Under Bill van Breda Kolff and his successor, Pete Carril, the Tigers since 1962 (the beginning of the Bill Bradley era) have won 142 games and lost 44 for a mark of .763.

Leading the pack is UCLA (184-21 — .898), far ahead of second place Davidson (153-40 — .793). Duke (154-45 — .774) and Texas El Paso (144-44 — .766) are the others ahead of Princeton. Rounding out the top seven are Vanderbilt (137-43 — .761) and Providence (135-48 — .737).

Two of the coaches involved in compiling the top-ranked marks will send their teams against each other in Jadwin Gymnasium on December 10. Lefty Driesell, who has guided Davidson to a .793 mark in the last seven years, has switched to Maryland and will bring the Terps to play Princeton and Pete Carril that evening.

A LITTLE GEM . . . high on a hill, with a wonderful view, here is a 200-year-old frame Colonial which has been restored and renovated in superb taste. Grand old shade trees, beautiful landscaping, semi-enclosed brick terrace. Living room with fireplace, new powder room, sitting room, modern kitchen with screened porch for breakfast. Upstairs, 2 bedrooms, nursery (or den) and bath. One of Hopewell Township's most perfect little homes . . . quite dreamy! $37,500

GRIGGSTOWN . . . on a wooded acre, this 8-year-old brick and frame one-story dwelling was custom-built for the owners. 3 bedrooms, 1 full bath and 1 bath roughed-in, but not finished. Living room with fireplace, dining room, modern eat-in kitchen, extra large closets. This house is in excellent condition and may be occupied immediately. On a quiet street in the country amid lofty trees, this property is only a short ride out of town, yet ideally secluded. $39,900

LIKE A LITTLE PRIVACY? Here's a darling house exactly suited to a romantic couple. Almost hidden behind its trees and hedges as you drive by you get a glimpse of its washed brick facade and a rugged shake roof that tells its story of quality and charm. Indoors, there's living room, dining room, den with beamed ceiling, music room, kitchen, and (upstairs) 4 bedrooms, 1 bath. $49,500

HORSES! . . . HORSES! — only a short drive from Princeton, here are 11 acres in a very nice, very horsey countryside. There's a big barn, too — a very solid structure that needs new siding, but is large enough for 4 box stalls and a tack room. The land is rolling, with many trees and shrubs, but it's not a forest — you can really look over your own acres and enjoy the view. The old farm house has a sun porch and a large paneled living room, a great big modern kitchen, bedroom and bath on the first floor. Upstairs, there is now a large apartment, with its own entrance, which brings in more than enough to pay taxes, but which could easily be changed back into 4 bedrooms and bath. $53,500

ONLY 10 MINUTES from Princeton, on one-and-a-half beautifully landscaped acres, this long, low, spacious home was designed to make living in the country a real pleasure. Living and dining rooms are large & airy, and any housewife will envy the owner of the marvelous kitchen, with lots of room for family breakfast and lunches. 3 big bedrooms, 2 full baths, a study (or 4th bedroom) 2 powder rooms. $68,900

GROWING FAMILY . . . Here is a sprawling one-story home on 2 2/3 acres with a real expansion attic — plenty of space to add 2 more bedrooms and a bath when it becomes necessary. At present, the house has large (15'x 30') living room, with fireplace, separate dining room, big kitchen (17'9"x 14'), panelled study, a master bedroom 19'x15', two other bedrooms 14'x15, and huge closets with many built-ins. Two full baths. Maid's room has been converted into an extra kitchen, but could be a family room or 4th bedroom as there is a bathroom adjoining. $69,500

LAND

STUART HILL . . . Fabulous 2-acre building sites in the most desirable part of Princeton This neighborhood appeals to people who dream of living in castles among lofty trees. All utilities installed.

44 ACRES . . . near Pennington Prime land for development. ¾ acre zoning. 1450 feet of road frontage. We expect satisfactory appreciation in value when Interstate 95 is completed and crosses Route 31, about half a mile away. $4000 per acre

BUILDING SITE . . . 4.80 acres of rolling land, with a view of trees and a brook at the back. 20 minutes from Princeton. $10,000

TWO-AND-A-HALF-ACRES . . . twenty minutes from town. 225' frontage. A very nice building site in beautiful rolling country. $9500

Many more fine homes in Princeton & vicinity in a wide range. Ample parking space for our clients.
